BAR ENDORSES G. R. ELLISON

RESOLUTIONS WILL BE DRAFTED BY COMMITTEE.

TO OTHERS COUNTIES

Committee of Local Bar Association Will Have Charge of His Campaign in This Section.

The candidacy of George Robb Ellison for the Democratic nomination for judge of the supreme court was endorsed at a meeting of the Nodaway County bar association held in the circuit court room this afternoon. A committee composed of M. E. Ford, chairman, Judge J. H. Sayler, Charles Stilwell, T. A. Cummins and W. A. Blagg, was appointed to draft resolutions to which the signatures of every member of the county bar association will be affixed.

The bar association perfected its organization by electing M. E. Ford as chairman and Virgil Rathbun as secretary. Several members of the bar made short talks and suggested that bar endorsements for Mr. Ellison be obtained from every county in Northwest Missouri. It was then decided that members be selected by the executive committee to go to other counties in Northwest Missouri for the purpose of getting the endorsements of the members of their bar associations. This work will be done within the next week.

Some of the speakers pointed out that out of the seven supreme court judges and four commissioners, only three are from north of the river. The location of Mr. Ellison should be stressed, it was declared.

The movement to get behind the candidacy of Mr. Ellison should be non-partisan and include both Republicans and Democrats, Judge John M. Dawson said.

Mr. Ellison spoke briefly, telling about his candidacy and asking for the help of the fellow members of his profession. He stated that to campaign over the entire state is a big job and will keep him busy and that it was necessary for him to call on his friends to take care of his campaign here at home.

Every member of the bar association declared he was ready and willing to assist in any way he could to help out the candidacy of Mr. Ellison.

This is the third submarine to have been sunk within the past few months after being rammed by a steamship.

James E. Clymens Is Retained as Trustee

The suit of Mrs. Nancy Clymens and others against James E. Clymens, to remove the latter as trustee, was dismissed in Circuit Court yesterday after Judge John M. Dawson had heard the arguments of attorneys. The actual trial of the case, at which the testimony of witnesses was introduced, was held several weeks ago.

In dismissing the suit, Judge Dawson held that Mr. Clymens' record as trustee of the estate was not such as to justify his removal.

Court was adjourned after the decision in the Clymens case. Dawson will open the regular term in Rock Port Monday.

KANSAS WINS FROM TIGERS

MISSOURI LOSES ANNUAL BATTLE BY SCORE OF 10-7.

SCORE LOST BY INCHES

Pass to Clark Results In Touchdown in First Quarter and Starr Scores For Kansas.

Bulletin.

A place kick, just before the final gun, won for the Kansas Jayhawkers, 10-7, in their annual game today with the Missouri Tigers, hitherto undefeated.

Ames defeated Drake, 7-6, leaving Missouri the Valley champions.

Five minutes after the beginning of the Missouri-Kansas football game this afternoon at Lawrence, Clark, Missouri halfback, took a pass from Captain Whiteman, and raced 26 yards for the first touchdown of the game. Whiteman booted perfectly from placement for the extra point.

During the remainder of the initial quarter the teams battled on even terms, the period ending with the score remaining 7 to 0, the ball on Missouri's 30-yard line in Tiger possession.

Shortly before the middle of the second quarter, Missouri loosed an offense, centered around Whiteman and Jackson, which worked the ball half the distance of the field. A 15-yard run by Jackson was the feature.

One minute before the half ended Starr went over for a Kansas touchdown. He had previously received a pass from Zuber which placed the ball on the 10-inch line. Zuber kicked goal to knot the score at 1-all.

Missouri kicked off after the marker, and Kansas proceeded to work the ball to the Missouri 13-yard line where a pass was attempted to Testerman over the goal line. It failed and it was Missouri's ball on her 20-yard line just as the half ended.

Score: Missouri, 7; Kansas, 7.

In the third quarter Missouri worked the ball to the Kansas 7-yard line, there to lose it after Captain Whiteman had been thrown for a 13-yard loss. Missouri had the ball on the Kansas 10-yard line but did not have the push to put it across.

Missouri again worked the ball down the field to the Kansas 23-yard line. There two passes were incomplete, and then Whiteman passed to Bacchus who placed the ball on the Jayhawk 11-yard line. Kansas was penalized 5 yards. Whiteman made a yard. Jackson carried the ball tothe 2-yard line. Missouri took time out. Jackson failed to gain. Jackson missed the touchdown by inches.

The third quarter ended with the ball in Missouri's possession on the Kansas 28-yard line. Score: Missouri, 7; Kansas, 7.

Gerald Chapman Not To Hang December 3

Germany, Conn., Nov. 21.—Gerald Chapman, notorious bandit, will not be hanged on December 3 for the murder of a policemen, Hugh Alcorn, State's Attorney of Hartford, announced after a conference with Attorney-General Sargent.

A reprieve will be obtained for Chapman pending the outcome of a hearing on his application for a writ of habeas corpus, to be decided Monday.

Miss Gertrude Wright of Maryville, who is attending the University of Iowa at Iowa City, was the winner in an advertising contest conducted recently by the University paper. Miss Wright competed with several hundred contestants in a florist shop advertisement. Her ad follows: "After a tiff, say it with flowers."

OFFER PRIZES IN SEAL SALE

TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION TO REWARD CHILDREN.

A BANNER AND A CUP

One To Go To Rural School, Other To High School—Program For 1926 Announced.

Prizes to be given to schools selling Christmas seals for 1925, were announced today by the Nodaway County Tuberculosis Association.

To each school selling the Christmas seals the association will give a copy of "Health Teaching," by Dansdill. The value of this book is $3 and it is declared to be the most valuable book on health written in recent years.

As a further reward the Nodaway County Tuberculosis Association will give a room thermometer to each room selling as much as $5 worth of seals.

To the school selling as much as $10 or more of the seals, the association will give one year's subscribtion, value $3, for the popular health magazine, Hygeia.

The Christmas Seal Banner again will be awarded to the rural school selling the greatest number of seals per capita enumeration. The banner has been won each of the last two years by the Mount Joy school, and if this school wins again, the banner will become its permanent possession.

Trophy Cup Again Offered.

To the high school and its grades selling the greatest number of seals per capita enumeration of the district, a silver trophy cup will be awarded again. This cup was won last year by the Wilcox High School, in 1923, by Ravenwood High School and in 1922, by Maryville High School. It also must be won three times before it becomes the permanent possession of any school.

What the county association has done and what it proposes to do next year from the proceeds of the seal sale is outlined as follows:

Last year's accomplishments:

Held four free clinics where those interested received examination for chest diseases.

Contributed to support of public health nurse for county.

Special aid to individual cases needing advice and temporary financial help.

Proposed Activities.

The program of activities for 1926 is as follows:

A number of free clinics will be conducted during the year by a specialist on tuberculosis.

Health lectures will be given in schools, before clubs and community meetings.

A copy of "Health Teaching" is to be placed in every school in the county and other special literature for teaching health and information regarding tuberculosis.

Nurse service will be furnished to homes where suspected or active tuberculosis exists. This will include instructions to the patient and to the other members of the family.

Temporary financial aid will be given to needy cases pending the action of proper authorities.

Necessary equipment for the care of tubercular patients will be furnished when they are financially unable to do so themselves.

To Give a Play of Tennessee Mountains

Dramatics Club of Maryville High School Will Present "On Vengeance Height."

The second of a series of plays will be given Monday morning at regular assembly time when the Dramatics Club of the Maryville High School will present a one-act tragedy, "On Vengeance Height." It is an account of a Tennessee mountain feud.

The cast for the presentation is as follows:

Cheridah Gormley—Pauline Nicholas.

Clay Gormley, her grandson—Jack Morgan.

Hope Tavender, her neighbor—Mary Elizabeth Selecman.

Lem Carmalt, her blood enemy—Earl Dorman.

Miss Augusta Quell of the Dramatics Department is in charge of the play.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Roseberry returned Thursday night from Kansas City, where they attended the state Sunday School convention.

Nodaway County Hens "Lay Down;" Need Egging On

Nodaway County Hens have "walked out."

"No eggs" is the response many housewives received when doing their weekly marketing today.

Local authorities on poultry say that the cold, wet weather during the molting period is the cause of the strike, but that if the present weather continues for a week the shortage will be a thing of the past.

"Neither fowls nor stock thrive in cold, damp weather. The strike is the result of the early cold," is the way one Maryville poultry man accounted for it.

There always is a shortage of eggs during the moulting season, so the present shortage is really an annual affair.

NAVY CRITICS TO BE CALLED

SHENANDOAH'S OFFICERS TO STRIKE BACK AT ARMY MEN.

MITCHELL TO TESTIFY

Flying Colonel Will Paint Alarming Picture Of National Air Defense At Court Martial.

Washington, Nov. 21—A startling picture of aerial warfare in the future will be painted for the American people by Col. William Mitchell when he takes the witness stand in his own defense before the army board hearing the testimony in his court martial.

Mitchell will describe the frightful damage to be wrought by new aerial monsters and the terrible consequences to the civilian population. He will depict the fearful menace of the new aerial torpedoes, able to hit targets a hundred miles away.

He will attack the present American system of air defense and will renew his indictment of the officials of the War Department.

Mitchell will go on the stand either late Monday or Tuesday.

Washington, Nov. 21—The Shenandoah court of inquiry has declared open war on Army witnesses who have given at the Col. William Mitchell court martial testimony critical of the Navy's handling of the dirigible's last and fatal flight.

Testimony will be introduced to controvert that of the army officers who have charged that the Navy was "criminally negligent" in the Shenandoah disaster, particularly. The surviving officers of the Shenandoah feel that much of the criticism has been directed at them personally. These officers will get a chance to answer the Army officers when the hearing re-opens Monday.

Queen's Coffin Made From Tree She Loved

Trunk of a Giant Pine Will Contain the Body of Alexandra, Britain's Beloved Sovereign

London, Nov. 21.—Queen Alexandra will be buried from Westminster Abbey, Great Britain's shrine, on Friday.

Lord Cromer, lord chamberlain to King George, made the public announcement today. The funeral services will be held at 11:30 o'clock Friday morning, and the ceremonies will be those of the state funeral.

London, Nov. 21—An empire sorrows today for the passing of Queen Alexandra, most beloved of Britain's queens since Elizabeth.

Within the palace, the lord chamberlain was closeted with other officials, conferring on arrangements for the funeral. Beyond the gates, in a little house, the workmen shaping the royal coffin furnished a lugubrious accompaniment for the general grief.

The coffin is being fashioned from the trunk of a huge pine tree which the queen had watch grow from a tiny sprout to a giant which proved shade for the mansion. It is said to have been her favorite tree of all the multitude of trees in the royal forests.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kinnaird, C. D. Bellows, Dale Bellows and Harry Mutz spent Wednesday and Thursday at the American Royal livestock show in Kansas City.

Polo, 28; Laredo, 17.
Pickering, 31; Grandview, 5.

Pickering advanced into the final round of the tournament by defeating the Rosendale basketball team 8 to 6. The game was the best of the tournament played to date and was featured by erceptional close guarding.

The first half ended with the teams in a 4 to 4 dead-lock.

The box score:

Pickering (8)—	FG.	FT.
McKee, f	2	0
Lett, f	0	0
Rickard, f	1	0
McGinnis, c	1	0
Swinford, g	0	0
Rosendale (6)—	FG.	FT.
Davison, f	0	0
Gilmour, f	0	0
Finley, f	0	2
Mackey, c	1	0
W. Max, g	1	0
G. Max, g	0	0

The New Point basketball team outclassed the Easton team and won a 23 to 16 contest in the first game played this afternoon. Smooth floor work and a strong defense were the best features of the New Point team.

The New Point team, by virtue of this victory, will meet the winner of the Pickering-Rosendale game in the game tonight.

The Northwest Missouri high school basketball tournament went into the semi-final round this afternoon when Pickering played Rosendale and New Point met Easton.

This morning Easton won from Cainsville, 26-16; New Point defeated Hardin 16-18; Rosendale vanquished Daleview, 25-8; and Pickering took the measure of Polo, 28-6.

The Easton-Cainsville game opened the play in the second round. At the first, Cainsville showed more strength but toward the end of the first half the Easton team got together and slowly but surely amassed the winning margin.

Lisle, the Easton captain, was the star of the game. His playing was superior to that of perhaps any player in the tournament, and his team's offense and defense alike centered around him.

The New Point-Central game was closer than the score indicated. The boys from near Hardin put up a valiant fight, and only the superior work of Knele and Acton, New Point forwards, permitted the victory. Both of these men were ill last night, but this was not noticeable in their play today.

Rosendale had little difficulty with Daleview after they once got started. At that, the victors were never forced, and their true playing ability has not been wrung from them at the writing.

Polo was a good team, but nothing to compare with the strong Pickering quintet, which won handily. The Nodaway County boys were masters of the situation at all times. Their team and individual play was ever superior.

McGinness, Pickering center, was taken from the game in the last half by personal fouls. McKee was high-point man with six field goals and two free throws.

The score:

Pickering—	G.	F.T.	F.
McKee, f	6	2	0
Lett, f	0	0	0
Rickard, f	2	1	0
McGinness, c	3	1	4
Locke, g	1	0	0
Swinford, g	0	0	1
TOTAL	12	4	5
Polo—	G.	F.T.	F.

A New Crisis Looms for French Cabinet

Test Is Expected When Proposed Direct Levies Are Taken Up in the Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, Nov. 21.—The Painleve cabinet appears to be rapidly approaching a new crisis.

Although the financial program presented by Premier Painleve has succeeded in making the first hurdles in deputies, the margin of safety has been its progress through the chamber of deputies, the margin of safety has been small enough that it now appears very doubtful whether the measure can pass.

The crisis is expected to develop when the proposals for direct taxes and a property levy are taken up.

A PROHIBITION BREAK LIKELY

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE DIFFERS WITH ADMINISTRATION.

MAY AFFECT POLITICS

Relations Between "Dry" Leaders And Coolidge Officials Least Cordial In Five Years.

Washington, Nov. 21.—A decided disagreement has developed between the Coolidge administration and the Anti-Saloon League over the enforcement policies inaugurated by the regime of Prohibition Director Andrews.

A difference of opinion has arisen between the league officials and the administration officials on a number of questions of policy and procedure. Whether these differences will lead ultimately to an open rupture between the Anti-Saloon League and the Coolidge forces, with all the political ratifications such a rupture would involve, remains to be seen. It appeared today that relations between the administration and the Anti-Soloon League were less cordial than they have been at any time in the last five years.

Applies to all, Says President.

Washington, Nov. 21.—All violations of the prohibition law, however small, should be prosecuted, is the opinion of President Coolidge, although he believes special stress should be placed upon cases where convictions will close up large sources of liquor supplies.

The President feels prohibition violations are being prosecuted by federal authorities as rapidly and thoroughly as the existing legal machinery permits, and recognizes prosecutions serving to abolish supply sources do much to reduce minor prohibition cases, which have been clogging court dockets.

The view of United States Attorney Buckner of New York that the small prohibition law violations should be ignored, if necessary, to concentrate upon larger cases, has stirred up a controversy which has been brought to the attention of the chief executive.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, recently criticized Mr. Buckner because of his public announcement he would make little effort to catch the hip-flask law violators in order to center his forces against the bigger ones, and also made the prohibition situation in New York the subject of a conversation with Mr. Coolidge last week.

Teachers' College Enrollment is 779

Figures Show Insrease of 57 Over Number of Students at Same Time Last Year.

The enrollment at the Maryville State Teachers College at the present time is 779. That is an increase of 57 over last year's enrollment of 722. Of that number two-thirds of the students are women, one third are men.

Nine states besides Missouri are represented in the student body. The states are: Illinois, Kansas, Iowa, Michigan, Georgia, Ohio, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Montana.

'No Confidence' Voted In Egypt Government

Cairo, Nov. 21—Despite armed efforts of the government to prevent a meeting, the opposition members of the Egyptian Parliament assembled in the Continental Hotel today and expressed a vote of no confidence in the government. Following the meeting they marched in a body to the chamber of deputies and demanded admission.

MELLON SOON TO QUIT POST?

REPORT SAYS HE WILL RETIRE IN A FEW MONTHS.

BURTON AS SUCCESSOR

Cleveland Press Predicts Congressman From Ohio Will Be Named By President Coolidge.

Cleveland, Nov. 21.—The Cleveland Press today prints the following prediction:

"Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, will resign within the next few months, following passage by Congress in December of his income tax revision legislation, and Congressman Theodore A. Burton of Cleveland will be named by President Coolidge as his successor.

"News of these two impending events seeped into authoritative political circles today. Reports of Mellon's retirement have been current in Washington for some time, although alternately denied and practically confirmed."

Washington, Nov. 21.—Retirement of Andrew Mellon as Secretary of the Treasury in the next few months is regarded in political circles here as possible, but a report that Representative Theodore Burton of Ohio would succeed him was received with surprise and some doubt.

Impeaching of Texas Officers Proposed

Petition to Members of Legislature is Directed at Governor and Highway Commissioners

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 21—Representative A. T. K. Berwin, of the first Dallas district, announced today he would mail out a petition tonight to all members of the Texas legislature for the purpose of impeaching any state officer in any way connected with the work of the state highway commission.

While the petition does not specifically mention the name of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, Berwin and other Dallas County members intimated it is directed at her and the present highway commissioners.

Republicans Plan Redistricting Act

Nodaway Would Be In District With Atchison, Holt, Andrew, Gentry, DeKalb and Clinton.

Jefferson City, Nov. 21.—The Republican senatorial redistricting plan, which the state committee will submit to the people by initiative proposal, was outlined by Judge Samuel W. James of Sedalia, chairman of the subcommittee drafting the proposal.

Judge James submitted the plan to the Republican Editorial Association.

The plan would give Kansas City and Jackson County four senators, instead of two, and St. Louis would receive eight districts, an increase of two. St. Louis County would retain her one seat in the senate, as would St. Joseph and Buchanan County. The present number of districts in the state, thirty-four is not altered, but the cities are given more representation, having thirteen seats in the senate, as compared to the outstate representation of twenty-one. The three larger cities now have only nine seats in the senate.

According to the subcommittee's estimates, the party representation in the senate under the proposed plan would be seventeen to seventeen, based upon the votes cast for judge of the supreme court in 1918 and 1922. Both of these years are "off years" and the Democrats carried the state. The presidential years of 1920 and 1924, in which the Republicans swept the state, were not taken into the committee's calculations. On the basis of the vote cast in 1922, the Democrats would control the senate by but two votes, under the plan.

Nodaway County would be in the fourth district. Other counties in this district would be Gentry, Atchison, Holt, Andrew, DeKalb and Clinton. It was Republican in 1918 and 1922.

The counties now in the senatorial district are Nodaway, Atchison, Worth and Gentry.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

MAN THE IMITATOR.

In his humbler moments, when the deeds of angels and archangels are brought to his attention, man has been wont to call himself but a worm of the dust; but now a French scientist, Lucien Cuentot, declares man is but an imitator of the lower forms of animal life, and that many of his most boasted inventions have been used by the bugs for ages. To make the humiliation of man complete, the scientist says he is but a poor imitator at that, and the inventions of insects and animals are always more perfect and worked out with more detail than those of man.

Even the camouflage of the war is as old as the hills among the lower animals, he says, and the grasshopper has used a torpedo tube from time immemorial to plant its eggs low in the ground. Even the patented fastener, only invented by man about forty years ago, has been used by the cuttlefish to button its outer skin on ever since there has been a cuttlefish, while the file, the anchor, the rail, the groove and the art of dove-tailing have always been used by the lower animals. The invention of musical instruments is stolen from the insects.

WHICH ROAD MUST HE TAKE?

Congressman John W. Langley of Kentucky, who was sentenced to serve a term in the penitentiary for conspiracy to violate the national liquor laws and was then re-elected to Congress, is in about the same situation as the fellow who, after being told by a judge that he must go to the penitentiary, replied: "I just can't do it, Judge, I can't leave my work."

Mr. Langley appealed his case to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and it has ruled the sentence of the lower court must stand and that Langley, even though a member of Congress, must pay the $10,000 fine assessed and serve two years in the Atlanta penitentiary. He can still appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The crime for which Mr. Langley was convicted was not the mere possession of intoxicating liquor but a deliberate conspiracy to withdraw for illegal sale 1,400 cases of bonded whiskey. It was a case similar to that for which 39 men and women were recently indicted in Indianapolis. If anybody ought to set an example in respect for law and obedience to law, it is a member of Congress who is charged with helping to make the laws and who takes a solemn oath to support the constitution and the laws of his country.

THE NEWSPAPER REPORTER.

The newspaper reporter strikes the highest note of happiness and excitement in the human scale. I have yet to find a reporter who willingly left his job for one more lucrative in another line. Yet they all do.

For the truth is, the skilled reporter is worth more than the profession pays him and he soon finds it out and goes to other fields. He quits romance for dollars with regret.

The job of reporting is romantic for the simple reason that it daily twangs all the chords of emotion. A click of the telegraph key may send a reporter up to the gangplank on the first lap of a journey to remote Kamchatka. A simple police plotter entry may give him first scent of a murder that will rock the nation.

The reporter is angling daily in the vast reservoir of potential thrills. He deals with the stuff that is "stranger than fiction."

The real reporter is a strange animal. In appearance he is often shiftless and cynical. In unimportant matters he is at times unreliable. He is given to romancing with his fellows. His manner of living does not always click with conventions.

Yet, when the test comes—when the big story breaks—he galvanizes instantly into the most dynamic and efficient of human beings. His poses and artificialities are gone. He quivers for the chase. He is a news-hound. —O. O. McIntyre, in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan.

What a lot of energy is wasted every day talking about nothing.

While we do not believe one-half of one per cent is a proper basis for everything, yet Italy showed her appreciation and a good spirit in paying the five million dollars due next summer under the settlement as soon as the terms were agreed upon.

A Kansas City woman has opened a repair shop for mending runs in silk hose. It is claimed silk hose can be repaired so that the run can not be detected. Such work has been done on a large scale in Paris, France, but it is said there is only one other such shop in this country and that is at Washington, D. C.

With the entrance of the crisp fall days horseback riding has once again become the favorite sport of Washington. Every day at least a hundred riders go over the jumps in Rock Creek Park and several score of the more timorous canter around the graceful east Potomac bridle path. The Mitchell court martial is responsible for the addition of the Colonel and Mrs. Mitchell.

It is predicted that the population of the United States, which has been increasing at the rate of a million and a half a year, will reach 200,000,000 by 1983. That need not worry us if we gradually adjust ourselves to the new situation. Missouri can accommodate 1,000,000 more people and still not be crowded and, when the agricultural areas of the country are fully developed on an economic and intensive basis, we can take care of a tremendous increase. On the basis of cultivated land to population now existing in Japan, Holland, Belgium and perhaps others of the little countries, we could feed a billion people, according to statisticians.

WISE CRACKS

Another state governed by a woman is matrimony.—Charleston Courier.

The Journal Makes Mission Plain

Whose business is it? The Journal has been taken to task for not pointing out and condemning "a certain place" where liquor is supposed to flow and gambling featured. We know of no such place in Hopkins. We have no way of knowing that anything contrary to law is taking place in the resort they speak of. We would have just as much right to say gambling is being done in the back room of Mutti & Brown's store or liquor being sold by a resident minister as we would to make similar assertions about someone else even if the land of suspicion should point towards them. The law of libel holds a newspaper responsible for what it says without being able to substantiate its assertions. It's the law's business, not the newspaper, to rid the town of nuisances, if any exist. Too many would like to make a cat's paw out of the local newspaper. They apparently forget the ministers, the school superintendent, the W. C. T. U., the mayor and the marshall—always being content to ask, "Why don't the newspaper do so and so?" It's our business to print the news—not to act in the capacity of a detective and serve without pay as president of the law and order league. Get us?—Hopkins Journal.

Would Abolish Toll Gate in Pike County

That and Erection of County Hospital Causes Move For Chamber Of Commerce.

Louisana, Mo., Nov. 21—The abolition of the toll gate system in Pike County, where it has been used as a means of collecting county road funds, was an outstanding point in the discussion, which launched the move to organize a Pike County Chamber of Commerce.

Erection of a county hospital here was another project it was hoped such an organization would achieve, and a glance was taken at the future of dairying interests in the county.

The movement was given its inception at a luncheon of the Louisiana Rotary Club, which was attended by representatives from Bowling Green, Clarksville, Frankford and Folia, and by county officials.

A. J. Murphy, chairman of the Rotary Club's committee on business methods, presided. Addresses were made by Dr. C. P. Foreman, Maj. L. C. Stark, Judge Tinsley, Attorney Ras Pearson, W. C. Campbell, county agent, Attorney Vivian Smith of Bowling Green, J. Sam Patton, mayor of Clarksville; R. J. Parham of Frankford, Paul Starck, Col. C. G. Buffum and Col. E. A. Glenn.

Brunjes Notified to See Dr. Curl Himself

Nodaway County Court Formally Refuses to Consider Warsaw Man's Claim in Salary Case.

If Richard B. Brunjes of Warsaw, Mo., gets the one-fourth share to which he claims he is entitled from the back salary to be paid to Dr. O. L. Curl, former prosecuting attorney of Nodaway County, he will have to get it from Mr. Curl himself, according to notice sent Brunjes this week by the County Court.

A. F. Harvey, who has represented the county in the prosecuting attorney suits, was instructed some time ago by the County Court to notify Attorney Brunjes of its decision. Brunjes claims to be entitled to an attorney's fee from Dr. Curl and other prosecuting attorneys because he brought the suit which he claims furnished a precedent for payment of additional salary to the attorneys of other counties.

Mr. Harvey's reply was as follows:

"Mr. Richard B. Brunjes,
Warsaw, Mo.

"Dear Sir:

"On July 6, 1925, you seem to have filed with the clerk of the County Court of Nodaway County, Missouri, what purports to be a notice of a claim for attorney fees against Otto L. Curl, who was prosecuting attorney of Nodaway County, Missouri, during the years of 1923 and 1924.

"The County Court of this county has been sued by Curl for the balance of his salary and answer will be required to be filed in the Circuit Court on or before the 11th day of January.

"As I understand, Mr. Curl claims that he does not know you, never saw you in his life, and never entered into any contract or obligation with you of any kind or nature.

"I further understand that his attorneys claim that the salary of a public officer is not subject to any liens or charges of the character set out in your notice.

"On behalf of the County Court of Nodaway County, I am hereby notifying you that if you have or claim to have any right to any portion of the salary of the said Otto L. Curl you will assert the same by legal proceedings either in the suit filed against the County Court for the salary of the said Curl, or in such other manner as you may see fit, on or before the second Monday in the month of January next, otherwise the County Court of Nodaway County will pay the said Curl his salary without regard to the aforesaid notice filed by you.

"I may add that it is my opinion that Mr. Curl will claim damages against you for having held up and delayed the payment of his salary, but of course, I am not authorized to speak on that subject.

"Yours truly,
"A. F. Harvey."

MEDDLIN' IN BUSINESS

Mr. S. Claus and the Meddler announce their consolidation! From now on Claus and Meddler, unlimited, will cooperate to the fullest extent in order that every person in Nodaway County will receive the most appropriate and useful gift this year. Santa has brought enormous quantities of his fine treasures to Maryville and it's up to the Meddler to tell you where they are.

Schumacher - Rowley's newly equipped store is an alluring place. It literally invites patronage as one passes. The store handles the Batavia line of Standard and exclusive products.

—MB—

When I begin talking about Ye Olde Towne Gift Shop at Raines and Chaves I never know when to stop. In fact to do the place justice one shouldn't stop. You know there is a great craze for ships right now, and the gift shop is showing book ends decorated with lovely ones. Even Santa exclaimed with glee when he saw them. Everytime I go to Ye Olde Towne Shop, Santa is there.

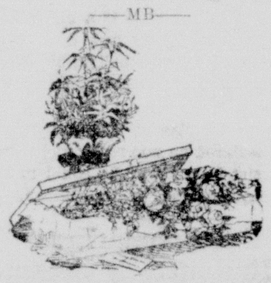
—MB—

Many people do not know that the Superior Cleaners also excel in alterations and tailoring. Work taken there is done by an expert tailor who has been in the business for twelve years. Women and men's clothes both are accepted and the work is such as can be executed only in fine tailoring shops. A suit or dress may be sent to the Superior Cleaners, altered and then cleaned without the trouble of transferring it.

—MB—

A city of ten times the population of Maryville could not have a more complete and up-to-the minute line of sanitary goods than Yehle's. One of the latest things on the market, and so of course it's one of the latest things at Yehle's, is the boilable silk sanitary apron. It is feather weight, water and acid proof and will will honestly and truly stand boiling and the price is the most interesting part of it. The aprons are only fifty-nine cents.

—MB—



Thanksgiving without "Mums" is like Christmas without holly. Engelmann Greenhouses are making up special Turkey Day flower baskets. The prices range from $2 up and they make most appropriate remembrances. Huge yellow and white mums may be had as well as smaller pom poms in yellow, chestnut and maple leaf. The prices range from $2 to $5 a dozen, depending upon the size. One especially unusual offer that Mr. Engelmann has is his purple and lavender asters. These flowers created a sensation at the St. Joseph flower show. They were the only ones displayed. It is rare for asters to be available so late, especially colored ones. A dozen make a lovely Thanksgiving gift.

—MB—

Reuillard's Bakery is featuring a new double loaf of bread that is sold only at the bakery. Mr. Reuillard is especially interested in this loaf because he is giving the public the opportunity of buying bread at practically wholesale prices. The price per loaf is not less, but there is more bread in the loaf at the usual price, 10 cents.

—MB—

After all is said and done there is no gift for Christmas that will take the place of a Photograph! Of course, naturalness of expression, style, and a certain soft beauty of finish there must be—but with the name of Marcell on your photograph, you are assured of all these.—Marcell Studio.

—MB—

Something a bit unusual for a hardware store—Shell and Pyralin Toilet Sets are among the Christmas goods at Richards and Son. The Rochester ware and a complete line of Pyrex along with other attractive dishes make up a few of the things that store has on display for the holidays. Notice their fine window display.

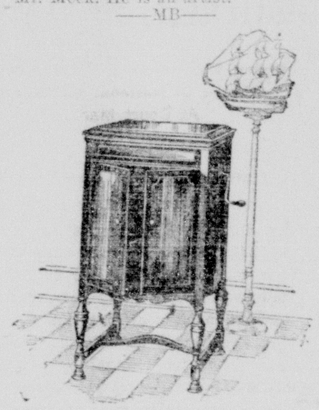
"There's poetry in Pie."

The poet who wrote that had more sense than soul. You'll know its the truth when you see the pies and other pastries that this expert is going to make this week. She is to be at Schumacher-Rowley's Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and any club in Maryville or Nodaway County may have her for a demonstration period. She gives practical talks that interest every housekeeper and she gives everyone samples of the most delicious things that you watch her make. Call the store and get the details. An interesting feature for your club. She is sent out by Gold Medal Flour people and their recipes are famous. Her name is Miss Boyd. She has two college degrees in Home Ec.

—MB—

Ellis Meek painted most of the signs for the "Boost Maryville" booth at the Methodist Church bazaar. Weren't they fine? And these clever window signs! Mind you, Mr. Meek thought most of them up himself! For signs of any kind, just call Mr. Meek. He is an artist.

—MB—



Every other person you talk to these days pops the question "Have you heard the new Orthophonic Victrola at Raines and Chaves?" And in order that you won't have to answer with a sheepish "NO," drop in any time of day at the store and hear it. The new machine is superb and any effort to describe it is futile. The machine sketched is the "Consolette" the baby of these new orthophonics, and is only $85.

—MB—

A gift of handwork certainly would have the personal touch. Mrs. Godsey has a brand new line of stamped goods, Italian linen towels, pillow cases, knife and fork holders, laundry bags and an all-linen tea cart cover for only seventy-five cents.

Flowers for dresses and coats, a new shipment, Mums, roses and others. Stop and see them—Mrs. Godsey.

—MB—

Oh, yes, a hot dish pad set at Raines and Chaves especially struck my eye. It is in the silver design and has a large and six small mats for only $2.

The "Cutter-Ups" are clever. A set of six: club, diamond, heart, spade, (No, no trump) half moon and star cutters included in the set for only a dollar. Nice prize. Fine for sandwich and cookie making.

And desk sets, oh, boy! the most attractive ones that would enhance any desk. Some are priced as low as $3.00. Others as high as $15.

A perfectly exquisite tea set in a green shade decorated in rose-filled baskets is distinctive.

—MB—

Well, Dear Readers, do you know yet where that darling hat and gown shop is to be located—? At 109 West Third Street and Miss Pearl M. Keiflein who has a millinery shop at Remus' is the owner of the new business. There will be a thrilling opening when lovely models will be displayed but the best I have not told—the prices are to be popular. Distinctive dresses and hats at prices lower than you have been paying.

And I must tell you a little about the shop. To call the gorgeous window coverings merely 'hangings' would be a crime. Now those French rooms are to be just about the Frenchiest French rooms you ever saw. My limited vocabulary prevents me from giving you a fair description of that shop. But this much I'll tell you, it's to be done in Ivory and Old Blue, and perfectly lovely.

There is just one thing you must keep in mind—at this shop there will be frocks and hats to suit every taste and every pocketbook. Miss Keiflien will handle lines that are famous for distinctive garments.

The shop will open about December 1. The exact date will be announced later.

—MB—

Sealskin Jacquettes are seen frequently, apparently given preference over the longer seal wrap.

I just learned today that Harvey Haines is to add the complete Houbigant line of perfumes and accessories to his store. This will be the only store in Maryville carrying the Houbigant perfumes and the fastidious dresser will be delighted to learn the good news. Houbigant is famous as one of the best perfumers at the present time and it is an advantage to Maryville shoppers to be able to procure the products of this artist.

—MB—

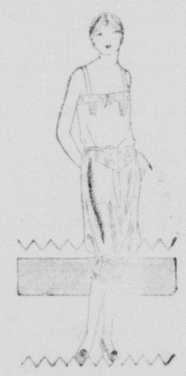
Christmas gift seekers will be charmed with the clever line of gifts at Kuchs Brothers. Ladies' and Men's wrist Watches are prominent among the attractive objects of jewelry. Round, oval or square shapes for ladies and square or oblong shapes for men. Hosts of other gifts are included in the Christmas stock. Place this store high on your list for holiday shopping. You are welcome to "just look around" to your heart's content at Kuchs'. Stop in any time.

—MB—

Radiogram received at noon today for the Meddler: Tell your Christmas shoppers that I have left a fine supply of radios at Lloyd's on North Main. (Signed) S. Claus.

Santa is the best helper I have. Upon receiving his telegram (he left so many gifts in Maryville, that he had to go back up North for more). I rushed down to Lloyd's and I'll just have to admit that Santa "knows his stuff." They have the Magnavox, single dial control set, the Crosley and the Kismet ranging in price from $20 to $200 for the sets alone. An ideal gift. I also found radio supplies in great quantities and repair work on all makes of sets is done there.

—MB—



For Ladies only!

The fitted yoke front bloomer has arrived at Yehle's.

It is in Rayon silk and is full cut. The fitted front gives a smooth appearance instead of the bulky fullness at the waistline. This new bloomer comes below the knee and is finished with double elastic cuffs. The colors are Geranium, Nasturtium, American Beauty, Emerald, Canna, Purple, Biege, Gray, Navy and Black.

—MB—

Santa and I have found the real Christmas gift. Something absolutely new—safe edge glassware. It won't chip! For a demonstration stunt the edges of the glasses are hit against a hard object to show that they don't chip. This ware is on display at Richards and Son. An ideal gift.

—MB—

Got that sweater yet? The fall wardrobe is not complete without one of the attractive new sweaters just arrived at Tolles. Some are coat sweaters and some in the turtle neck style and such color combinations you never saw before. They're mannish to the last stitch. Some are plaids in red, gray, green, blue and every other shade. The prices range from $5 to $7.50.

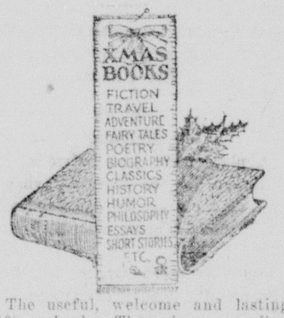
—MB—

The proper flower for Thanksgiving is the "mum."

No mother, sister or sweetheart should go without a lovely big pom pom on Turkey Day. They may be had as low as $2 a dozen or as high as $5 a dozen, depending on the size. Roses are $5 per dozen. Sweet peas, carnations or potied plants also are available for the Thanksgiving "season." Kissinger Greenhouses are making these special prices and they have many other flowers from which to make your selection.

The Price Furniture Company has a good line of pictures on display. Corots, Reynolds and many others are included in the collection. They are reasonably priced and appropriate for any member of the family as yuletide remembrances. A beautiful collection of lamp shades not yet displayed in the windows are among the new things at that store for Christmas. Lamps animate the sombre corners and any corner in the room that seems cold, even gloomy, is bound to come to life with the mere addition of a well designed lamp—a lamp that contributes not only light, but color. There's no excuse for anyone not having beautiful lamps when Price's offer such values.

—MB—



The useful, welcome and lasting gift—a book. There is no age limit to book giving. From two years to one hundred a book is enjoyable and appropriate. The Hotchkin Store has books at all prices and kinds. If you have no special book in mind just go in and browse around. Make yourself at home. You're always welcome.

—MB—

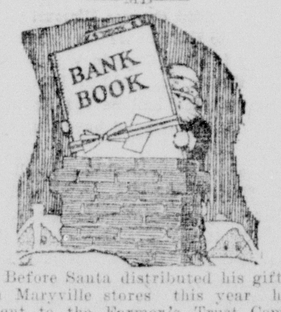
What will you give her for Thanksgiving?

Mother or sweetheart will appreciate a box of Donaldson's Thanksgiving candy. It's in a seasonal wrapping and is seventy-five cents a pound. The Maryville Drug Co., is making a special Turkey Day offer of it. One and two-pound boxes.

—MB—

That window display at Price's makes me want to walk right in through glass and all and make myself comfortable. Did you ever see such a cozy room? And artistic furniture, well. That new table style smoking stand is about the cleverest Christmas gift for a man that I know of. Lamps, they are distinctive. Notice the bases of them. You who are connoisseurs of lamps will recognize quality there. The secret of making a house a home is "coziness" and every article of furniture in that display fairly "oozes" with it. Those chairs—they are the most inviting ones I ever saw. The new type of end and accessory tables displayed show the latest styles.

—MB—



Before Santa distributed his gifts in Maryville stores this year he went to the Farmer's Trust Company to find out just how much the Savings Club Members would have to spend. More than $6,000 will be paid out to the Members, but Santa asked me to tell those club members that they must not spend all their savings on Christmas presents. At least part of the money should be saved to make a permanent fund. That is giving yourself a Christmas present, and why not? It is nearly time for the money to be paid out and wouldn't it be fine to take part of that money and deposit it in the regular interest department. Wouldn't it be fine to have a permanent and ever-growing reserve fund? Of course Santa is willing for you to spend part of it in giving Christmas cheer, but looking ahead, the many Christmases that are to come may be far more merrier for you if you start that permanent fund now.

—MB—

Your costume may be smart, but without a gay boutonniere, it is not complete. Like a veritable flower garden is the marvelous collection of "blooms" I found at Haines. Whether you are going to the game or to a family reunion on Thanksgiving Day, your costume needs one of these latest perfumed flowers. A bottle of rare Oriental essence accompanies them. Gardenias, violets, lilies of the valley and roses are included in the collection. Incidentally they make ideal Christmas gifts.

—MB—

Thanksgiving cards at Raines and Chaves are unusual and make nice remembrances.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME.
Picking Candidates For 1928.
BY PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 19, (United Press).—The colorful J. Hamilton Lewis, red whiskered Democratic ex-senator from Illinois had some interesting politics to discuss with newspapermen after he left the White House on a recent visit.

Lewis picked as Republican candidates in 1928: For President Charles G. Dawes of Chicago; for Vice President Herbert Hoover of California.

His Democratic candidates are: For President Gov. Vic Donahey of Ohio (or "another Democratic Governor" whom he declined to name although he is believed to have meant Al Smith of New York; for Vice President Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana or ex-Senator Phelan of California.

Lewis based his predictions largely upon geographical grounds. He reasons that Mr. Coolidge will not seek election for a third term, although this is contrary to the general impression of men in Washington. He thinks Republican could best go to Illinois for their candidate while the Democrats might best select theirs from the swing-state of Ohio.

California must gain recognition on the tickets, he thinks and he looks to the nomination of Hoover or Phelan as second place men. Walsh declined the vice presidential nomination at the Madison Square Garden convention of the Democrats last year and it is considered unlikely that he would accept a place on the 1928 ticket.

At the same time that Lewis was advancing Dawes as a theoretical candidate, Dawes was being introduced at a dinner in Indianapolis as a man who was "on his way to the presidency." Dawes condemned this introduction immediately, saying: "I am not now nor have I ever been a candidate for any office." Dawes contended that opponents of his project to amend the Senate rules had started talk of his candidacy to discredit the rules campaign he is now conducting.

Lewis neglected to mention another strong candidate from Illinois whose friends are active in his behalf, ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden, who was offered and refused the vice presidential post Dawes now has. Lowden himself is doing nothing now but it is believed he would become a prominent candidate should Mr. Coolidge desire not to run again. Even if Mr. Coolidge is in the field, there is some talk of his opponents bringing Lowden forward to oppose him on the same "third term" grounds that were used to defeat Roosevelt.

There will be two new faces and an old familiar face in a new frame when the senate reconvenes. Senators George H. Williams, Republican, Missouri, and Arthur R. Robinson, Republican, Indiana, who have never appeared in the senate before must be sworn. Robert M. La Follette, junior, who was his fathers secretary and familiar to everyone upon the floor will take his fathers seat.

Hungry Man Steals An Elephant—But It Was a Toy One

Boston, Mass., Nov. 21—(United Press)—"Charged with stealing one elephant, valued at $8," read Clerk James Milward in calling the case of James Fahey in district court yesterday.

"What!" exclaimed Judge Michael Murray, "an elephant, you say?"

"Yes sir," the clerk insisted, "one elephant."

Then the clerk suddenly discovered the scene of the crime was a department store, not a circus and said, "it was a toy elephant, your honor."

"What was your motive?" asked the judge of the defendant.

"Well, replied Fahey. "I was hungry and lonesome and the elephant looked hungry and lonesome, so I took it."

"Ten dollars," said the judge. Fahey paid.

Mrs. J. M. Parker and grandson of Creston, Ia., spent yesterday with Mrs. Ethel Luther and Miss Esta Force of Arkoe.

Arthur Brisbane Says---

"Mrs. Leathe's husband left her five million dollars eighteen years ago. In a bankruptcy court she testifies that her total assets are reduced to $600, including a wrist watch worth $300.

"Mrs. Leathe kept her money longer than is customary with widows of rich men. Gentlemen who consider it almost a business virtue to rob a woman usually get their money in much less than eighteen years.

"If you expect to leave a widow or daughters, leave a certain income so tied up that it cannot be stolen from them. A good trust company or the right insurance policy will help to do that."

It is the particular business of our trust department to administer and conserve estates for widows and other heirs. We'd be happy to explain how we can serve you and yours.

SCHOOLS SOON MUST EXPAND

MARYVILLE OUTGROWING FACILITIES SAYS SUPT. ZIEGLER.

A JUNIOR HIGH NEEDED

Parent-Teacher Association Is Told Benefits Of New Movement In Education.

Maryville is facing, sooner or later, a program of school expansion, according to L. E. Ziegler, superintendent of the city schools, who spoke Thursday afternoon before the meeting held by the Parent-Teachers Association.

"You have only to look at the crowded condition of the schools at present and at the growth of the city and the school enrollment in the past decade, and especially in the past four years," Mr. Ziegler told the parents. He pointed out that the grade school enrollment had increased 200 in five years, while the high school enrollment had grown from 240 in 1917-18 to 345 at present, a figure, which probably will be brought to a total of 400 or more after the first of the year.

Recommends Junior High.

As one of the greatest needs of the Maryville schools, the superintendent recommended a junior high school. He was discussing "New Movements in Education," and the junior high school movement he characterized as one of the most important.

The junior high school, he explained, is an organization in the intermediate grades, including usually the seventh, eighth and ninth (freshman, high school) grades, but sometimes only the seventh and eighth. With apologies to Dr. Thomas Briggs of Columbia University, he gave the purpose of the junior high school to "teach pupils to do better the desirable things that they are going to do anyway."

"We find that the dropping out of school begins between the sixth and seventh grades," Mr. Ziegler said. "The reason is that the compulsory education laws of most states cease to be effective at ages from 12 to 16 years. The group naturally expected to drop out is the over-age group."

The junior high school, he declared, gives a new hold upon these pupils, and when the first year of high school is included in initiates them into this new work without such a sharp break as at present. Once in high school, they are more likely to continue to graduation, he asserted.

Departmental Teaching.

The junior high school is valuable also because it is especially adapted to the period of adolescence, a trying period for both boys and girls. The courses are especially arranged so as to experiment with the interests of the children in an effort to fit them to the vocations for which they are best suited.

The greatest technical advantage of the junior high school over the present system, Mr. Ziegler said, is that it affords departmental teaching as in the high school, with specially trained teachers giving instruction in their specialties and with classes of normal size. Pupils also may be promoted by subjects and not kept back an entire year because of one failure.

Other new movements discussed by the superintendent were the activity periods in high school, grades and grading tests and testing.

The chief reason for the activity period in high school, Mr. Ziegler said, is to develop proper attitudes and intelligent obedience through recreation, and the worthy use of leisure time.

Problem Of Leisure Time.

From 3:30 each afternoon until the next morning is leisure time. Most of that leisure time many students spend on the streets or in places where there is nothing constructive or valuable going on. It is to teach better use of this time that the activity period is employed," he explained.

The activity period also affords a good method of getting added interest in particular subjects. Mr. Ziegler said, giving as examples mathematics, history or science clubs.

Discussing the E. S. M. I. P., grading system now in use, the speaker asserted the utter impossibility of giving numerical grades. "Suppose you give a grade of 85 or 90 or 95 per cent?" he asked. "What is it? Ninety-five per cent of what?"

Even the grading in the five main groups he declared limited in its usefulness and he urged that mechanical marks as grades be minimized. "The only mark that counts is the mark that the pupil makes upon some other individual," he asserted.

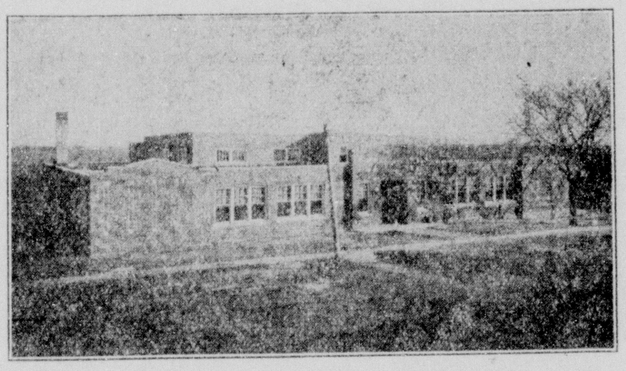
Something Besides Books.

He emphasized that grades at the Maryville High School do not denote book work alone. "A student might be able to answer every question and still have a thousand faults or character and conduct, which would make him a poor citizen—and, it is citizens we are trying to develop," he pointed out.

Explaining the so-called intelligence and achievement tests used in the local schools, Mr. Ziegler declared they "can be used to wonderful advantage, or they can be over-used to the detriment of the students."

"In the general way, intelligence tests tell us what to expect of different students with the same amount of effort. Likewise achievement tests tell us what groups or individuals are accomplishing and provide a periodic stock taking for the teacher."

Elmo's $40,000 School Building



What visiting educators said of the new structure, dedicated Tuesday:

"As I see it, your school board has erected a building not like any other school building in the county, and not like any other small town school building in Missouri. Somebody had a vision, and I think you ought to congratulate yourselves on having the nerve to go ahead and carry it out."—President Uel W. Lamkin, president Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

"A magnificent building, a credit to any community. I congratulate you on the spirit you have shown. It is the same spirit that was in Elmo twenty-five years ago when I taught here. It was shoe-top deep then; it is boot-top deep now."—T. H. Cook, member of Teachers College faculty, former superintendent at Elmo.

"You now have just as good a school as any in America. Other buildings may be finer and more expensive, but none is better suited to achieve its purposes. I congratulate you."—C. A. Hawkins, member of Teachers College faculty, former superintendent of Maryville schools.

"Your pride in what you have done will grow greater as this building continues to render service to the community. Then you will realize the full meaning of it to the community."—Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools.

The first class rating for this school was made posible by a number of improvements since last year. The windows have been changed to give proper lighting, new pictures have been secured, new toilets provided, an American flag purchased, a set of the World Books added to the library and the roof reshingled with asbestos shingles.

Albert Fannon is teacher at Maple Grove, which becomes the thirty-third first class school in the county.

ELMO SCHOOL IS DEDICATED

600 PATRONS OF DISTRICT ENJOY COMMUNITY DINNER.

PRAISED BY LEADERS

New Building Offers Opportunity to Boys And Girls, Says Uel W. Lamkin.

The recently completed $40,000 central school building of the Elmo school district was dedicated last Tuesday with a basket dinner and afternoon program of speaking and music. A moving picture show was given in the new auditorium at night.

It is estimated that approximately 600 persons were served at the community dinner, and the auditorium was well filled for the afternoon program.

All the business houses in Elmo closed at 11 o'clock in the morning and remained closed during the afternoon. Pupils of the school acted as guides and also gave parts of the program.

Tuesday was Patriotism Day of National Education Week, and all the pupils wore the national colors.

Equal Opportunities Urged.

Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, was master of ceremonies, and Uel W. Lamkin, president of the State Teachers College, was the principal speaker of the day.

"I rejoice with you in the dedication of this building to the better training of boys and girls in their own community," Mr. Lamkin said. "I am not so much interested in the boy or girl who is financially able to go away to school as I am in those boys and girls who must get all of their education in their home communities," he continued.

"The world is moving more rapidly than many of us know. America is no longer a rural nation, the census of 1920 shows, and the statement that it is the country boys who most often become leaders is a fallacy now.

"How can the country keep pace with the city?" Mr. Lamkin queried. He declared his belief that there is only one way and that is to equalize the educational opportunities of the city and country boys.

"I would not advocate going back to the 'good old days,' but I do wish that we could go back to the moral standards our fathers and mothers set," he said in discussion progress.

Investment, Not Expense.

"While we are making wonderful progress in the rural schools of America, we are not making as satisfactory progress as in other branches of education. Your building should be regarded by you as an investment and not as an expense."

In a plea for increased school funds, Mr. Lamkin brought out the fact that of every $100 spent in the United States only $1.50 goes for educational purposes.

T. H. Cook, of the history department of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers' College and at one time head of the Elmo schools, told of conditions in an earlier period of Elmo school history.

Mr. Cook was in Elmo when the town erected the building which was torn down to make place for the new and modern structure dedicated Tuesday. For the erection of that building, $4,000 in bonds were voted, Mr. Cook said. An interesting account of the first graduating class of the Elmo High School also was given by Mr. Cook. In closing, he said that he had always enjoyed the generosity, good will and hospitality of the Elmo people.

C. A. Hawkins, another veteran school man, instructor of Latin in the State Teachers College, spoke on changes in American life and the causes of them. According to Mr. Hawkins, the public school system is the thing which has brought about the beneficial changes in America and is the epitome of all civilized America.

The schools are the means of forming social habits and attitudes and are the greatest teachers of the laws of personal rights and property rights, he said.

Married students are barred at an Illinois University, probably on the theory that a married man has an education coming to him at home.

By the time the weather will permit the detours to be decent, it will be too cold for touring.

MOUNT VERNON.

Some new equipment has been purchased recently for the Mount Vernon school. It includes a water cooler, waste paper basket, materials for a hectograph, and a thermometer.

The "A" Health Education class has made an attractive poster this week, which urges the eating of more vegetables.

The first, second, and third grade classes have bulletin boards on which the childrens' best work is placed each day. This is causing some keen competition among the children, especially in penmanship.

Those who have been neither absent nor tardy this year are Roy Jensen, Joe, Lelia Evelyn, Gerald and Dorothy Nell Mitchell.

HARMONY SCHOOL NOTES.

Our boys of the basketball team, accompanied by coach, Halley Ford, were the guests of the College Friday afternoon at the football game between Maryville and Springfield. Before leaving for the game Mr. Ford explained from a diagram the theory of football to enable the boys, many of whom had never seen a game before, to appreciate the fine point in play. The boys greatly enjoyed the courtesy of the College in giving them this privilege.

Howard Edwards was absent from school last week on account of sickness.

Fay Woodson Null will enjoy a visit to the Royal Stock Show at Kansas City from Sunday to Friday of this week, through the generosity of the Sears Roebuck Agricultural Foundation Department, who will pay all expenses of the trip and entertainment. He was recommended to this organization by the Pure Bred Hereford Cattle Association. The trip will be highly educative in character, as well as intensely interesting.

The muddy roads interfered with school attendance in some measure last week.

Our debating team will meet the two teams from Parnell high school and the team from Conception College high school in the first debates in the state league. The first date will probably be early in December.

While the boys were watching the football game Friday, the girls with Mrs. Ford as chaperon, engaged in horseback riding for recreation.

The girls of the orchestra will soon be all dolled up in new dresses, uniform in style with Do-Re-Mi sashes. Oh boy, some class!

Miss Kibbe conducted a very successful orchestra practice here Friday afternoon and acted as instructor Saturday. She returned to Maryville late Saturday evening with Darl Porter and wife.

Too Much Efficiency

By E. J. Rath (© W. J. Watt and Co.)

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

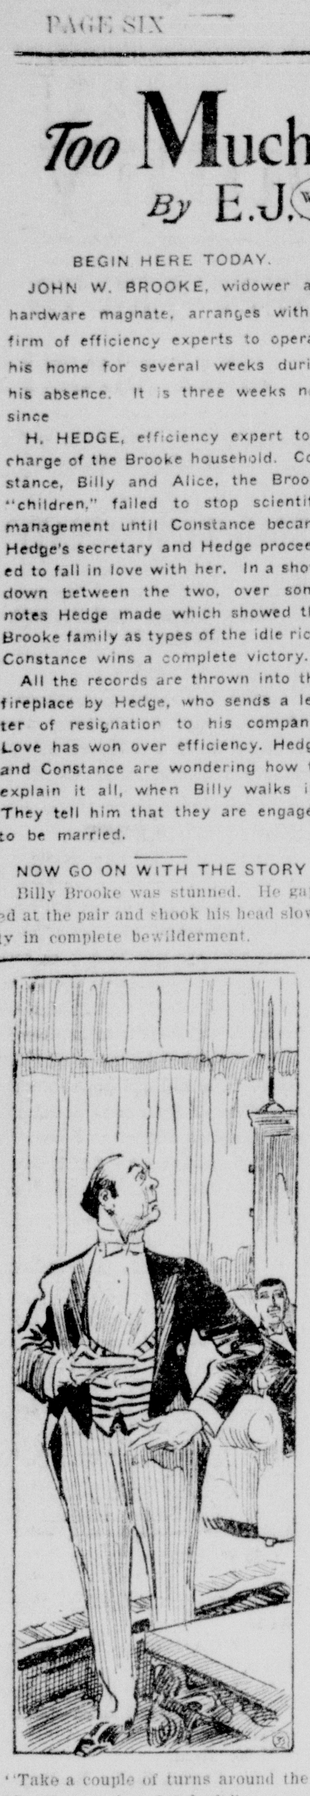
JOHN W. BROOKE, widower and hardware magnate, arranges with a firm of efficiency experts to operate his home for several weeks during his absence. It is three weeks now since

H. HEDGE, efficiency expert took charge of the Brooke household. Constance, Billy and Alice, the Brooke "children," failed to stop scientific management until Constance became Hedge's secretary and Hedge proceeded to fall in love with her. In a showdown between the two, over some notes Hedge made which showed the Brooke family as types of the idle rich, Constance wins a complete victory.

All the records are thrown into the fireplace by Hedge, who sends a letter of resignation to his company. Love has won over efficiency. Hedge and Constance are wondering how to explain it all, when Billy walks in. They tell him that they are engaged to be married.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Billy Brooke was stunned. He gaped at the pair and shook his head slowly in complete bewilderment.



"Take a couple of turns around the table, Horace, just for luck."

"Connie's going to marry me," announced H. Hedge, grinning. "You're almost my brother-in-law, Bill."

"Is this true, Connie?"

Constance nodded and laughed.

"You mean to tell me you're going to marry that—that—that crazy nut?"

"But he's not crazy, Billy dear. Are you, E. E.? He isn't an efficiency man any more. He resigned. And the efficiency is all in the fire, and the time-clock is smashed, and all the rules are abolished. So you musn't call him a nut, because—well, because he's mine."

"We're disgraced!" moaned Billy.

"See here, William Brooke," said his sister sternly. "Never let me hear you say that again. We're not disgraced! He's the finest, dearest—"

"Let up—please," begged H. Hedge modestly.

"I won't!" declared Constance. "You're whatever I say you are. As for you, Billy, I want you to shake hands with him and congratulate him."

Billy glared.

"Billy, do as I say!" she commanded. "Why, it's an insult not to. Don't you think enough of your sister to congratulate the man who gets her?"

"But, Connie—after everything that's happened—after all he's done?"

Constance set her lips firmly and slid down from the table.

"E. E.," she said. "You promised to do anything I ever asked, didn't you?"

"I did."

"Very well. Then beat him up!"

And Constance pointed at her brother.

H. Hedge laughed and advanced towards Billy, with an extended hand.

"Shake, Bill," he said. "I'm O. K., even if you don't believe it yet, Connie says I am, and she's always right. I'm going to prove it to all of you today."

Billy Brooke found himself studying a singularly winning smile, quite different from any he had ever before observed on the face of H. Hedge. Hesitatingly he thrust out his hand.

"And now kiss me and wish me happiness," ordered Constance.

Billy did, still bewildered.

"Does—does Alice know this?" he asked anxiously.

"She's not home from school yet."

"It'll be an awful shock to her."

"It is to all of us," said Constance cheerfully. "That's one of the nice parts of it. I love to be shocked. But you're going to be shocked worse than Alice. Tell him what you are going to do, E. E."

For answer, H. Hedge fumbled among the few remaining papers on the desk and discovered the checkbook.

"When did I cut off your allowance, Bill-" he asked.

"I—gosh!"

"It's three weeks, anyhow," observed H. Hedge, as he began to write. "Call it a month; that's near enough. We'll say two hundred is coming to you. And then there's interest at six per cent. I guess. Oh, let's make it an even two-fifty and call it square. I don't want to bother figuring it. Is that satisfactory, Bill?"

Billy Brooke was choking. As Hedge signed his name with a particularly dashing flourish, he stood as though hypnotized. And when the check was in his hands he was still dumb. He stared at the slip of paper and then at the signer of it. Constance and Hedge laughed merrily.

"Oh—I say," faltered Billy after a long pause, "This sort of gets me, E. E. It isn't the money part, but—oh, I guess you're all right."

The two Brookes and H. Hedge were laughing uproariously over a reminiscene of economy and efficiency when the third Brooke made her appearance. Alice paused and surveyed the group from the threshold. Then, tossing her books into a chair, she advanced upon the trio.

"Hello, Billy," she said, and kissed him.

"Hello, Connie—you fraud," and kissed her.

"And hello, H. Hedge—congratulations."

And she kissed him!

"Alice!"

It was the amazed voice of Constance that spoke.

"Pooh!" said Alice blandly. "I knew it was going to happen all the time. Anybody who wasn't blind could see it."

"Alice! You couldn't have seen it—nobody could!"

"Couldn't I, though? I've been expecting to see you fall on each other's neck at breakfast for the past two weeks."

And she raced from the room.

"Do you really think she knew?" asked Constance in an awed voice.

"You never can tell," observed Billy thoughtfully. "She's a wise little guy, but she doesn't always let on."

"She's a dear," said Constance. "And I'm beginning to think she knew more about it than any of us, after all."

Horace entered the room, carrying a trayful of mail. When he had located the exact spot where H. Hedge sat, he faced it, drew himself up with a military air, and covered the interval by the shortest possible route and the fewest number of steps. With a single movement of the arm, he presented the mail.

H. Hedge took it from the tray, biting his lip to conceal a smile. Horace wheeled about, clicked his heels together, and started back over the same route. He was halted by the voice of the ex-efficiency man before he had reached the door.

"Take a couple of turns around the table, Horace," commanded H. Hedge.

Horace stared.

"Go ahead—just for luck."

Very solemnly, Horace walked twice around the table.

"After this, walk any old way you please, Horace. If I catch you doing this shortest-distance-between-two points stuff any more, you and I will roll around the floor some. And tell 'em all downstairs to get busy and wear out their shoes. If I don't see some varnish kicked off the floors, there'll be a row. And, while I think of it, have Giovanni sweep up the time-clock and throw it into the ash-barrel."

"Very good, sir," said Horace impassively.

But when he reached the hall he leaned against the staircase while he recovered his breath.

"And now to get ready for the big riot," said H. Hedge.

Constance and Billy looked at him expectantly.

"A party—the real thing—and no hospital corps!" he exclaimed.

"When?"

"Tonight."

"For just us?" asked Constance.

"Just us?" I should say not! Just everybody—that's all."

"It can't be done, E. E. There isn't time."

"All the time in the world," he affirmed.

"But, there are so many who will have engagements, and—"

"Let 'em break their engagements. Tell 'em there's a big surprise coming. Make it mysterious; that'll fetch 'em."

"But E. E., don't you see that nothing is ready? The servants won't have time to prepare things, and—"

"Who? Our servants? Child alive, our servants are not going to work at our party! They're going to have a party of their own. This is a public holiday in the Brooke mansion."

Constance looked at H. Hedge suspiciously.

"Are you getting efficient again?" she demanded.

"I keep forgetting," he laughed. "But say, Connie dear, if you'll just let me be efficient for a few hours, I'll knock off after that for the rest of my life. Just give me this one chance. It's the last offense."

"I'm for letting him go to it," advised Billy, as he fondly figured the check in his vest-pocket.

"Go to it, E. E.," assented Constance.

Hedge bounded out of his chair.

"We've all got to pile in and work," he said in his old brisk manner. "Connie, will you do the inviting? You've got your own 'phone upstairs. I'll need the one here. Who will you invite? Everybody you can think of—anybody—you want. Make 'em come. Tell 'em we're sending automobiles after 'em.

"Don't leave anybody out. Get a mob. Just to give you an idea of what I mean, invite Tommy Treadwell. Yes, and invite the Van Nest atrocity and that Witherbee thing, if you like. Take 'em all in, from top to bottom, and from bottom to top. Telegraph Washington and invite the president."

"E. E., you're absurd."

"I'm worse than that—I'm ridiculous. But I'm going to be good and loony for one night if I go into a straitjacket in the morning. Now, hurry, Connie, my dear. Wait—kiss me! Now beat it."

Constance fled to her room and seized the telephone.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Wheat registered good gains in today's short session on the board of trade here. Coarse grains sagged.

Best prices failed to hold in wheat and final profit taking followed a substantial period of early gains. Buying was inspired by higher cables and bull Argentine news. In the closing hour, a more cautious attitude swept over the pit.

The excellent weather and increased husking weakened corn, strength in wheat notwithstanding.

Commission houses sold all through the short session. Oats trailed and were off with corn.

The final drop in provisions was due to lower hogs and slackened demand.

SPOOFHOUNDS BEAT HORNETS

COMES FROM BEHIND TO WIN 14 TO 10 GAME.

PAIR OF GREAT RUNS

Kissinger Goes 60 Yards Through Tackle and Cockayne Gains 45 Yards After Pass.

In the last few minutes of a "Dads Day" game at Chillicothe yesterday, the Maryville High School football team came from behind to win from Chillicothe High, 14 to 10, before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a football game in that city.

Startling runs by Kissinger and Cockayne were the features of the game. The one by the former came when defeat seemed imminent in the waning minutes of the battle. It was for 60 yards a nd it came right through the center of the Chillicothe line.

Cockayne's run was 45 yards long and received its genesis in a completed forward pass from "Chuggy" Smith in the first five minutes of the game.

Chillicothe won the toss and elected to kick. Maryville took the ball on her 20-yard line and, after three plays, punted. Chillicothe received the kick and immediately passed. The pass was intercepted by Charles Kissinger, Maryville fullback, on Chillicothe's 45-yard line.

Then came the pass to Cockayne, who caught the pigskin right in the middle of three Hornets. Somehow he wriggled free and cut across the chalk lines, planting the ball squarely between the goal posts. Kissinger kicked goal.

Then Chillicothe started out for revenge. Taking the ball on their 40-yard line, they marched down the field, knocking off first downs at almost every play. It was a smashing offense, which pierced the Maryville line with ease and circled the Spoofhound ends with abandon, and it was not stopped until a touchdown had been made. Goal was kicked. So ended the first quarter, 7 to 7.

In the second period, Norman of Chillicothe kicked from placement on the 20-yard line. This was the feature of the period, and gave the hornet's a commanding lead, which they held until the game was almost over.

In the final period, with the ball in Maryville's possession on her own 40-yard line, Kissinger took the oval on a play through left guard, stumbled through the line, regained himself, shook loose the secondary defense dodged the safety man, and scored the winning touchdown. A moment later he kicked goal.

Smith, Spoofhound quarterback, was taken from the game in the first period with an injured shoulder. He was unable to play again, but is much improved today. Godsey, right end, also sustained a shoulder injury, which did not take him from the game, however.

One more game is on the High School schedule. Excelsior Springs will be met here at 10 o'clock Thanksgiving morning.

The line-up yesterday: King, le; Howard, lt; New, lg; Curfman, c; Alsup, rg; Hall, rt; Godsey, re; Smith, qb; Cockayne, lh; Bratcher, rh; Kissinger, fb; Strong, Nichols, Tindall, substitutes.

Third place in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association football race went to Kirksville, by virtue of a 42 to 0 walloping, which the Bulldogs administered to the Cape Girardeau eleven at Kirksville yesterday.

The Kirksville team went through the Cape line at will, and passed successfully several times.

Supply of Turkeys Is Short This Year

Thanksgiving Gobblers, However, Are Better Than Usual In Quality.

Attention of poultry handlers, especially in the turkey raising states, this past week, has been turned to the shipping of turkeys for the Thanksgiving holiday. While the movement in some of the smaller turkey producing states has been slightly above last year, there is a marked shortage in the districts depended on for heavier production, indicating the supply on hand for this particular holiday will be somewhat short of one year ago. On account of plentiful feed, quality is said to be better, and with cold weather next week, all indications point to a satisfactory market.

Movement of other kinds of poultry has been light, mostly due to impassable roads, but with more favorable weather, general indications are there will be a good movement of these kinds of poultry for the next week, which is customary before a holiday. Reports indicate there is still a large amount of poultry to be moved, and while the demand at the larger consuming markets is steady to firm, prices should remain at about the present level.

The production of butter still continues much heavier than one year ago, indicating good feed conditions and high prices being paid for butterfat, which is just the opposite of one year ago. All things favor a good production throughout the winter, and while there is a good consuming demand, there may be some reaction and lower prices following the holiday.

Fresh eggs have been extremely scarce and prices are very high. For that reason, movement of eggs out of storage has been heavy, with some advance in the asking prices. Present weather, however, is likely to have some effect on the market, and at the moment, indications point to more reasonable prices.
